INQUEST WAITS UPON RECOVERY OF TWO VICTIMS

Tiring of what he alleged as the constant attention paid by John H. O'Brien to his wife, Marion H. Hawkins, well known in the local automobile trade as an expert mechanic, today lies dead at the morgue, with a bullet in his temple, while O'Brien and Mrs. Ethel Hawkins are now inmates of Queen's Hospital with fair chances of complete recovery from revolver wounds inflicted by Hawkins before he turned a weapon upon himself with deadly effect.

Sheriff William P. Jarrett endeavored to gain some tangible statement from either O'Brien or the wife of the dead man today. Their condition precluded any deposition being taken at this time.

Jealousy is attributed as the cause of a tragedy that took place at midnight on the lawn in front of the premises at 1038 Alapai street. Hawkins and Mrs. Hawkins, married shortly after the first of the year, are said to have disagreed and separated some weeks ago, the woman taking up her residence in an adjoining home to that occupied by her husband.

Friends of Hawkins today stated to the police that O'Brien had for some time past been paying marked attention to the woman.

Hawkins was one of a party of three who visited several moving picture shows last evening. He is said to have returned to his lodgings and then laid in wait for the approach of Mrs. Hawkins and O'Brien, who are alleged to have spent the evening on a motorcycle excursion.

It was a few minutes before 12 o'clock last night when O'Brien in company with Mrs. Hawkins reached the house and the pair were at once confronted by Hawkins.

"How much longer is this sort of thing going to continue," the husband is said to have demanded of O'Brien. With this exclamation, Hawkins is alleged to have drawn a .32 caliber revolver, the first shot apparently going wide of the mark, a second bullet finding lodgment in O'Brien's jaw, the third penetrating Mrs. Hawkins' body above the shoulder blade, while the fourth he reserved for himself, the leaden missile entering his right temple with fatal effect.

Police officers promptly rushed the injured persons to the hospital. Hawkins, who died within a few minutes, was taken to the morgue. Pending advices from the parents, who are believed to reside in Arizona, the remains are held at Williams' undertaking parlors awaiting final disposition.

SAILORS' UNION OUT WITH ENDORSEMENT FOR JEFF M'CARN

The following resolution was adopted unanimously by the Honolulu branch of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific:

Whereas there has appeared in the local papers a statement to the effect that Judge Wilder of Honolulu has filed a request with the department of justice at Washington, D. C., for the recall of the Honorable Jefferson McCarn, U. S. district attorney of the territory of Hawaii;

Resolved by the Honolulu branch of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific in regular meeting assembled this eleventh day of May, A. D. 1914, we protest against an effort on the part of anyone having for its purpose the recall from his office of U. S. district attorney of the territory of Hawaii, the Honorable Jefferson McCarn, as we have found him a just and fair man in his dealings with all.

Further resolved a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Honorable James Clark McReynolds, U. S. attorney-general, as well as the Honorable Samuel J. Gompers, president American Federation of Labor.

AFRICAN HUNTER DIES OF MOVIE LION'S BITE

(By Latest Mail)
LOS ANGELES, Cal.—Blood poisoning as a result of infection in wounds inflicted by a lion used in a motion picture drama, caused the death of Dr. William Warner Kirby.

Kirby was attacked by the lion several days ago and the wounds were at first considered slight. Kirby was a member of the Paul Rainey expedition to Africa, and well known among circus men.

FISHER STANDS ON OPINION OF ATTYS. GENERAL

"I have had, in the past, the opinion of two attorneys-general of this territory that my responsibilities ceased when I made sure that the system of county bookkeeping was in order according to the manner set out by the legislature," said Territorial Auditor Fisher yesterday afternoon, when asked about the Hawaii county affairs.

"The county systems of bookkeeping were instituted by the legislature of 1902, and the idea was taken from several Californian counties. The book rulings, blanks, etc., were obtained from King County, California, and after some changes that had to be made to suit these counties of ours, were put into use.

"During Governor Frear's administration I was asked by the chief executive to write to the auditor of Hawaii and request him to send in reports from the time of the inception of county government. I did so, and, on February 3, 1911, I received typewritten statements for the years 1905, '06, '07, '08, '09, '10. These were not sworn to nor signed, and I could not guarantee them to be correct.

"I want to say now that I never made any such statement as has been attributed to me to the effect that I said Maguire took off regular trial balances. Once, when I happen to be in Hilo, I spoke to Maguire about a trial balance and he said that there was an error somewhere. I took a hand and helped him to find the error.

"The trouble has been in the past that the electors have put men in office who are not bookkeepers. I could hardly undertake the job of teaching the auditors bookkeeping. I am not employed to teach bookkeeping 225 miles from my office here. The same system is in vogue on Oahu, Maui and Kauai. Owing to honest men being elected, there has been no graft of the Hawaii type on these other islands.

"When Governor Frear asked me to write to Hawaii for the statements, I wrote to all the island auditors and got their statements for the year. These were the same as were published regularly in the newspapers. The governor was at that time very busy, and he asked me to help him out by writing for the figures. Any work that I do as an accommodation, has nothing to do with the figures of my office here. It was simply as an accommodation that I took the county figures.

With regard to the statements appearing in the press about the Hilo bank and unsigned warrants, Fisher said that in Hilo he heard the statement made that very often the bank would take an unsigned warrant to accommodate a customer, knowing that it had only to be sent over to the county office in order to obtain a check for the irregular voucher.

GRAFT COMMISSION COMPLETES HEARINGS IN HILO AND ADJOURNS

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
HILO, May 11.—The Hawaii county investigation commission concluded its public hearings at Hilo this morning and Commissioners E. A. C. Long and William Williamson, together with Special Prosecutor R. W. Breckons, leave on the Mauna Kea this afternoon for Honolulu. Further hearings, it is stated today, will be held at Honolulu by the commission, but it is uncertain as yet when they will begin. For the present, Dr. Elliot, chairman, will remain here, though he will go to Honolulu for the sessions there, which probably will take up late next week or possible the week after.

Benjamin H. Brown, Jr., deputy county auditor, testified before the commission this morning that he had habitually issued warrants contrary to law, that is, before they were approved by the board of supervisors, but said he did so under the auditor's orders. He admitted it was irregular, and that he knew it at the time. At one point he stated that County Attorney W. H. Beers had urged the issuance of warrants in this irregular manner, for the payment of certain court fees such as witnesses' and jurors' salaries.

T. K. Lalakea, who served as county auditor prior to Charles K. Maguire's time, concluded his testimony this morning touching on his system of loaning money to county employees and the interest rates charged them.

He declared last week that he had never charged them more than one per cent a month, but documents

WHARFINGERS APPOINTED BY HARBOR BOARD

Starting on the first leg of a project which will result in every government wharf of importance in the territory having a proper overseer, the board of harbor commissioners, at its meeting this morning, appointed George Frieland and Samuel Kamapilikane wharfingers at Lahaina and Kawaihae, respectively. Communications also were received by the board containing requests that wharfingers be appointed at Hanalet and Nawiliwili, Kauai, upon which action is to be taken at a later date.

The engineer of the board was instructed, among other matters, to mark the depth of water in the Queen street slip on the posts along the front of the shed, letters to be about six inches high and well up on the posts, as per suggestion of Harbor-master William Foster.

The board ordered the following communication addressed to Clement Crowell, sheriff of the county of Maui, at Wailuku:

"Several complaints have been received by this commission as to the crowding and jostling by crowds of small boats from the Mauna Kea and other Inter-island craft. We now are negotiating with a party on Maui to act as representative of this board at Lahaina, and we would respectfully request that you instruct your policeman on duty at this wharf to carry out any reasonable requests that he may make."

J. C. Foss, the engineer constructing the wharf at Mahukona, was granted an extension of time on his contract on account of weather conditions. It was reported that the attorney-general has been informed of the desire of the board to meet with him at an early date in order to discuss the condemnation of the Marine railway site. The attorney-general, however, has not informed the commission as to the time convenient for such a conference. Mutual Wireless can, in some respects, be compared to a six-shooter carried by a certain man in a usually-peaceful village. On being asked why he went about armed, he replied: "Well, maybe I won't need Mr. Colt today nor tomorrow, but when I do I'll need him mighty bad, and THEN he'll git there and get there fust."

The mails are very valuable—but, in emergencies, Mutual Wireless "gets there and gets there fust."
